HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grain markets moved to generally higher price levels across the nation during the week ended January 7. Broad based support came from reduced world political tension, expanded export buying, wintry weather, increased animal feed requirements, and tight farm holding added support. Last week's inspections for export were disappointing for wheat and grains but greatly improved vessel line up indicated heavier movement for the current week.

WHEAT: Wheat markets moved up on tight farm holding, expanded export demand for wheat and flour, and threat of freeze damage to the winter wheat crop where inadequate snow cover leaves the crop vulnerable. Kansas City hard winter ordinary protein wheat rose 18 cents per bushel. Chicago soft red winter wheat moved 9 1/2 cents higher per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat advanced 7 1/4 cents. Portland soft white wheat traded 20-21 cents higher per bushel.

CORN: Wintry weather increased animal feed requirements and along with expanded export trade, caused yellow corn markets to advance as tight farm holding forced bids higher. Talk of acreage controls for the 1982 feed grain crops added support. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn was 11 1/2 cents higher per bushel. Other markets moved up 4 1/2-14 cents per bushel. Kansas City white corn trade continues dull with rail car bids unchanged.

OATS AND BARLEY: Tight farm holding forced oats markets higher as demand remained steady. The Minneapolis market advanced 10-18 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley steady to up 15 cents per bushel. Feed barley markets moved higher in thin trade with higher cost corn and lack of farmer selling furnishing strength.

SORGHUM: Sorghum tended to follow yellow corn market higher in spite of light selling and dull demand. The Texas High Plains market was steady to up 5 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEED: Improved export and domestic demand for soybean meal coupled with tight farmer holding, forced soybean markets higher. Illinois processor bids rose 14 1/2-15 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed fell 5 cents per bushel as crushers were busy processing sunflower seed. Duluth sunflower seed traded 15 cents higher per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feed grain markets trended mostly stronger across the nation during the week ended January 5. Slow mixed feed business caused spot weakness in feedstuffs markets as poor feeding margins and high interest rates continued to discourage stockpiling of feeds. Colder temperatures and snow cover caused incresed feeding in many areas but snow, ice, and mud delayed feedstuffs delivery.

OILSEED MEALS: Tight supply and export demand moved most oilseed meal markets higher in spite of only moderate feeder buying. Soybeans were tightly held as the farm level and this caused processors to raise basis in an effort to recover increased cost in some spots. Decatur 44 percent protein soybean meal rose 50 cents and 48 per cent meal rose $1.50 per ton. Other markets showed price advanced ranging from $2.90 at Minneapolis to $8.90 at Kansas City. Cottonseed meal ranged steady in Texas to up $4.50 at California mills and up $10.00 per ton at Memphis for solvent process meal. Minneapolis linseed held steady in thin trade and sunflower seed meal also unchanged in a good supply-demand balance. Sunflower oil advanced 1 1/4 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: A slight reduction in meat meal production failed to maintain selling prices at most locations. Demand remains unusually slow as meat meal is in a favorable price relationship to vegetable proteins. Several markets lowered asking prices in an effort to keep production moving on a current basis. Buffalo market held steady, but Forth Worth and Los Angeles markets went down $5.00 per ton. Minneapolis tankage traded unchanged but feather meal fell $10.00 per ton. Feather meal in Southern states in tight supply and firmly priced. East Coast fish meal advanced $10.00 as fishing turned poor. Gulf Coast market fell $10.00 due to slow poultry feed demand.

CORN FEEDS: Corn feeds in tight supply as demand for corn grits and corn sweetners are at a low point and this has reduced feedstuffs availability. Prices generally firm to higher in spots.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Increased flour mill grind began to pressure wheat millfeeds markets lower as feed mixer demand remains unseasonally slow. Buffalo middlings fell $4.00, Kansas City market slid $19.00 lower, Minneapolis markets $7.00 lower and Los Angeles millrun 50 cents lower per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Slow demand kept alfalfa markets on an even level as producers showed no inclination to lower or raise prices in view of the tight supply-slow demand situation. All reporting markets showed unchanged price levels.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses maintained steady positions during the past week except California ports. The price increase is due to transportation problems getting molasses from Hawaii to California, not a pick-up in demand. Beet and citrus molasses markets maintained steady positions.

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grains mixed. Wheat prices moved lower across the nation during the week ended January 14. Main weakness came from a hardening attitude toward the political unrest in Poland. Lack of adequate snow cover over parts of the hard red winter wheat areas of the U.S. and Russia contributed support as bitter cold temperatures threatened exposed wheat. Feed grain markets closed mixed with tight farm holding and movement of grain into reserves adding strength while large stocks furnished a weakening influence. Ice, snow, and frozen locks on river system disrupted grain movement over wide areas. Soybean markets were supported by an increase in soybean and meal sales, tight farm holding and higher prices for meal and oil.

WHEAT: Possibility of an embargo against grain shipments to Russia as a result of the Polish crisis weakened prices for wheat. Farmers held stocks tightly and this tended to limit the decline. Kansas City hard red winter wheat fell 3 cents to $4.38 1/2, down 33 1/2 cents per bushel from last season. Portland soft white wheat moved up 2-6 cents at $4.11 due to increased export interest. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat eased 4 3/4 cents to $4.26 3/4, down 61 1/4 cents per bushel from last year. Minneapolis rye advanced 25-30 cents to $4.00 due to tight farm holding.

CORN: Corn markets closed mixed but mostly higher as feeding demand improved and tight farm holding limited trade. The Minneapolis market eased 1/2 cents lower to $2.37 3/4, down 89 1/4 cents per bushel from last season. Kansas City milling quality white corn in rail cars traded 5 cents higher at $2.60 and truck prices also firmed as buying interest was good.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats closed mixed in a thin trade. Minneapolis oats advanced 4-7 cents at $2.17-2.30, unchanged to 13 cents below last season. Minneapolis malting barley closed steady to 5 cents higher at 2.85-3.15 due to light receipts. Current market is 60-75 cents under last year. Portland feed barley rose 5 cents to $2.98 but is 74 cents below year ago prices.

SORGHUM: Sorghum markets were mixed with grain movement severely restricted by ice and snow. Export demand improved but domestic feeder usage is spotty with most users preferring corn at present price levels. Kansas City multi-car sorghum prices fell 5 cents to $4.41, down $1.43 per hundred weight from last year. Texas high plains prices gained 10-15 cents at $4.80-4.85.

OILSEED: Soybean markets advanced sharply under broad support from higher oil and meal prices, increased export sales and tight farmer holdings. Illinois crusher prices moved up 7 1/2 - 9 1/2 cents to $6.30-6.42, but $1.81-1.30 per bushel under last year. Minneapolis flaxseed steady at $7.50, down 95 cents per bushel from last year. Increased crusher activity forced sunflower seed prices up 5 cents at $11.80 Duluth, down 10 cents per hundred weight from last season. Sunflower oil closed steady at 24 1/2 cents per pound.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grains traded mostly steady to higher but with a few weaker spots across the nation during the week ended January 12. Sharply colder temperatures, snow, and ice cover coupled with slightly improved animal feeding margins furinshed most of the strength. Tight supply of corn feeds added support.

OILSEED MEALS: A slight pick up in domestic feed demand and a steady export trade supported oilseed meal markets. Short run-time combined with short covering by processors added strength in some areas. Decatur soybean meal advanced $2.50 for 44 and 48 percent protein meal per ton. California Mills solvent process cottonseed meal advanced $9.00, Texas markets rose $5.00 but the Memphis market held steady. Minneapolis linseed meal and sunflower seed meal traded unchanged. Sunflower oil eased 1/2 cent lower per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Animal protein markets moved mostly higher and was supported by higher oilseed markets, a slight pick up in demand, and no excess production. Fort Worth meat meal rose $5.00 and the Minneapolis market advanced $2.50 per ton. Minneapolis feather meal traded $15.00 higher per ton. Fish meal markets mixed, steady on the West Coast, up $10.00 at Gulf Ports but $5.00 lower at East Coast port markets.

CORN FEEDS: Light production kept corn feeds in tight supply and markets were firm to higher in spots. Illinois Points yellow hominy feed up $1.00, but the Kansas City market was steady. Corn gluten feed and meal unchanged with production light and demand showing a little expansion. Brewer's dried grains production light and most markets advanced $3.00-4.00 per ton. Distiller's dried grains production lagged behind schedule and deliveries are being delayed.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mill grind failed to expand as much as industry expected due to cold temperatures, ice, and snow. This tightened supply and caused a reverse of the sharp down trend in market prices at mid period. Closing markets were mostly higher as feed mixer demand expanded.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Cold temperatures, snow, and ice cover increased animal feed requirements and alfalfa trade showed the best movement of the season. Prices were unchanged at most reporting markets. Alfalfa Center Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets held steady FOB plants. Sun-cured alfalfa trade mostly steady but the Los Angeles markets rose $2.00 per ton. Baled alfalfa hay movement expanded at steady prices.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses markets maintained mostly steady positions during the past week. Prices advanced $2.00 in Southern California as light available supplies were insufficient to cover trade needs. Overall, supplies were ample to satisfy trade requirements. Liquid feed business remains slow while dairy and range cube demand fair. The recent extreme cold weather throughout much of the country is expected to increase molasses movement.

FEEDSTUFFS: WHOLESALE PRICES	12-13

OILSEEDS: CRUSHED, MEAL AND OIL PRODUCTION, AND ENDING STOCKS, NOVEMBER 1981	15
FEEDSTUFFS: PRODUCTION, NOVEMBER 1981	16

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grain markets moved in a mixed price trend across the nation during the week ended January 21. Large grain carryover coupled with lighter export shipments tended to depress market prices. Lack of progress in settling the polish political crisis contributed weakness. Poor feeding margins and high interest rates discouraged livestock feeders. The main market strength centered around tight farmer holdings and movement of corn into government reserve program.

WHEAT: Wheat markets trended mixed with tight farm holding furnishing most of the strength but large world supplies and slow export trade caused weakness. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat fell 10 cents to $4.28 1/2. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat moved up 1 1/2 cents to 4.28 1/4. Portland soft white wheat rose 8 cents to 4.19.

CORN: Corn markets moved mixed as heavy snow and ice storms disrupted grain movement over much of the nation. The Kansas City mulit-car market fell 3 1/2 cents to 2.63 1/4. The Minneapolis gained market 1/2 cents to 2.42 1/4.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oat markets moved mostly higher in a thin trade. Minneapolis closed steady to up 6 cents at $2.17-2.36. Minneapolis best malting barley unchanged with receipts light and demand improved. Feed barley markets mixed with the Minneapolis market up 3 cents to $2.21. Stockton barley 4-5 cents lower at $3.22-3.26.

SORGHUM: Yellow sorghm trade slow with light export and feed demand but with practically no selling pressure. Texas High Plains market unchanged to 5 cents lower at $4.75-4.85. Kansas City market at $4.50 is up 9 cents from last week.

OILSEED: Snow and ice disrupted oilseed trade in the upper midwest. Illnois soybeans closed 1-7 cents lower at $6.29-6.35. Minneapolis flaxseed unchanged at $7.50. Duluth sunflower seed 25 higher at $12.05. Sunflower seed oil rose 1/2 cents to 25 cents per pound at Minneapolis.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feed grains moved to higher price levels across the nation during the week ended January 19. Feedstuffs traded mixed with high interest rates, poor feeding margins, and fewer number of cattle on feed depressing the market. Winter weather caused improved demand but also hampered the processing and shipping of feedstuffs. Dairy and swine feeds moved well, poultry feeds were mixed, turkey feeds down, but with broiler feeding expanding. Pet feeds moved extremely well.

OILSEED MEALS: Oilseed meals moved generally steady to higher with production expanding but still causing short supplies as extreme cold temperatures, snow and ice caused delays and breakdown of equipment at some plants. Decatur 44 percent protein soybean meal rose $5.00 and 48 percent protein meal up $3.00 per ton. California mills solvent cottonseed meal advanced $6.50 but most southern mills remained unchanged. Minneapolis solvent linseed meal firm at $150.00 per ton with expanded demand. Sunflower seed meal declined $5.00 under pressure of heavy crush. Sunflower seed oil went up 1 1/2 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Meat meal markets steady to firm with most strength coming fromincreased formulation due to the favorable ratio with vegetable proteins. Fort Worth meat meal steady, Minneapolis up $12.50 and Minneapolis tankage up $2.50 per ton. Feather meal markets mixed, steady at southern processing points but lower at Minneapolis. Fish meal markets were firm due to tightening supply as demand remains fairly quiet. Gulf and east coast port prices went up $5.00 per ton. West coast and Gulf imported fish meal unchanged.

CORN FEEDS: Corn feeds showed little price movement due to stable cash corn markets, light production and steady demand. Corn gluten feed steady at production points. Corn gluten 60 protein meal steady at Chicago and Kansas City. Illinois yellow hominy feed up $1.00 but Kansas City steady. Brewers' and distillers' dried grains remain in tight supply and prices steady to firm for light offerings.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mill grind expanded and wheat millfeed markets weakened at most markets as feed mixer buying interest was quickly covered. Spot tightness kept some markets firm in northern and northwestern areas. Buffalo middlings fell $5.00, Kansas City markets $18.00 lower and Minneapolis middlings off $10.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Lack of heavy range cube business this season caused some selling pressure on dehydrated alfalfa in the midwest. Alfalfa Center of Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets eased $1.00 lower per ton fob plants. Los Angeles sun-cured pellets up $2.00 per ton. Most other sun-cured alfalfa markets unchanged in slow trading.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses prices were unchanged during the past week. Demand improved through-out much of the country; however, extreme cold and snowpacked and icy roads were delaying deliveries in some areas. Supplies remain adequate to surplus for trade needs.

ALFALFA MEAL: PRODUCTION AND STOCKS, DECEMBER 1981..... 14

OILSEEDS: CRUSHED, MEAL AND OIL PRODUCTION, AND ENDING STOCKS, DECEMBER 1981..... 15

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grains traded in a mixed trend across the nation during the week ended January 28. Thin snow cover over the lower hard red winter wheat belt caused some deterioration of the crop. Heavy snow, cold temperatures, and high winds disrupted rail sevice in the nothern areas and ice-choked waterways delayed barge movement of grain. Larger world wheat and feed grain production and falling gold prices limited export demand.

WHEAT: Wheat markets closed mixed as snow, cold temperatures, and high winds interrupted rail and truck movement in northern areas. Farm holding continues tight but with expansion in spots on price advances. Flour mill demand good to replace moderate to heavy grind. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat 1 1/2 cents lower to $4.27 per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14% protein wheat rose 2 3/4 cents to $4.31 per bushel. Portland soft white wheat 1 cent lower to $4.18. per bushel.

CORN: Yellow corn closed mixed with livestock feeding increasing but export trade was slow. Kansas No. 2 yellow corn fell 2 3/4 cents to $2.60 1/2 per bushel. Minneapolis prices advanced 1/2 cent to $2.42 3/4 per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn held at $2.60 per bushel in slow trading. Truck prices sold in a mixed trend.

OATS AND BARLEY: Minneapolis heavy oats traded 2-5 cents higher at $2.22-2.38 per bushel with good demand. Minneapolis malting barley rose 5 cents to $2.90-3.20 per bushel with light receipts failing to fill malsters needs. Feed barley markets closed mixed. Portland declined 8-10 cents to $2.90-3.00 per bushel. Stockton barley advanced 2-3 cents at $3.24-3.29 per bushel.

SORGHUM: Sorghum demand was weak and trading was thin. Kansas City prices fell 16 cents to $4.34 per cwt. Texas High Plains market fell 5 cents to $4.70-4.80 per cwt.

OILSEEDS: Soybean markets recovered at the close as farm selling declined and processor demand improved enough to tighten supplies. Illinois prices rose 4-7 cents to $6.33-6.42 per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed held at $7.50 per bushel in slow trading. Duluth sunflower seed rose 35 cents to 12.40 per cwt. Crusher competition with exporters furnished the strength. Sunflower seed oil rose 1/2 cent to 25 1/2 cents per pound and this added support to the sunflower seed market.

HIGHLIGHTS: Tight holding at the farm level coupled with heavy feeding kept most grain markets strong during the week ended January 26. Feedstuffs showed a mixed trend as the traditionally slow February feeding period neared. Feeders utilized home grown grains and previously purchased feedstuffs in an effort to reduce cost and inventories. High interest rates, narrow feeding margins, and winter weather pushed costs higher.

OILSEED MEALS: Soybean meal markets moved lower as export trade slowed and domestic users worked off inventories. Decatur market $1.50 lower at $193.00 for 44 percent and $206.00 per ton for 48 percent protein meal. Scarce cottonseed meal traded mixed. California mills solvent meal advanced $3.00 to $155.50, southwestern areas steady, but Memphis declined $3.75 to $182.50 per ton. Minneapolis solvent linseed meal declined $3.00 to $147.00 per ton. Sunflower seed meal was steady at $105.00 per ton, sunflower oil steady at 25 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Meat meal prices were mixed. Wintry weather restricted meat meal production and distribution in northern areas. Fort Worth advanced $5.00 to $220.00, Kansas City steady and Minneapolis $5.00 lower at $210.00 per ton. Feather meal scarce, up $5.00 to $265.00 at Minneapolis, and up $10.00 to $250.00 at Southern Missouri and Northern Arkansas points. Fish meal offerings were scarce but demand was light. California market steady, East Coast up $5.00 to $380.00 but Gulf Coast mixed, up $5.00 to down $10.00 per ton at $365.00-380.00.

CORN FEEDS: Corn feed markets mixed with production continuing light in some areas and demand moderate. Corn gluten feed and meal markets unchanged. Illinois yellow hominy feed down $6.00 to $78.00 while scarce offerings at Kansas City $1.00 higher to $95.00 per ton. Distillers' dried grains fell $7.00 at $196.60 at Boston, but, with two plants closed for repairs the Buffalo market rose $2.00 to $173.00 per ton. Brewers' dried grain production began to catch up with demand and St. Louis fell $3.00 to $112.00 per ton. Boston $3.00 lower at $150.00 but Milwaukee unchanged at $150.00 per ton.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Heavy flour grind and weak feed mixer demand forced most wheat millfeeds lower. Buffalo middlings fell $3.00 to $87.00, Kansas City $2.00 lower at $70.00 and Minneapolis declined $4.00 to $62.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Approaching pasture season in southern areas pressured alfalfa markets in the midwest. Other markets remain steady to firm. Alfalfa center of Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets $1.00 lower at $85.00 per ton. Los Angeles sun-cured alfalfa pellets up $2.00 to $129.00 per ton. Bald alfalfa hay markets unchanged in thin trading.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses sold steady with demand fair, but showing signs of improvement, especially out of Houston and part of the midwest. Supplies remain ample for trade requirements. Snow packed and icy roads continued to delay shipments in North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Michigan, and Iowa. Beet and citrus molasses held steady. Supplies of citrus molasses remain light while beet molasses supplies are ample.
